Nestled within a village eponymous of the Vaucluse region, the hotel offers guests 34 rooms and suites, comprised of 16 rooms and 18 suites, which have been refreshed for the season. The refurbishment includes a re-design of 20 rooms, showcasing a refreshed look for the summer season.

The hotel reception area, public spaces and outdoor pool overlooking surrounding vineyards and picture-perfect Provençal countryside have also been exquisitely presented with the help of French designer and decorator Charles Zana.

An outstanding historical complex of stone buildings, the hotel offers magical outdoor spaces that visitors can delight in exploring. A terrace with a view here, a romantic patio there, the pétanque pitch and its trickling fountain, passageways in the ramparts, while over there, perfect little nooks for enjoying a quiet coffee while taking in the hypnotic landscape... A world apart, swathed in greenery and fragrances, that will make you feel like time has stopped still.

Set in a vaulted 18th-century building, the Spa des Ecuries is completely insulated from the outside world by its honey-coloured Crillon stone walls, making for a uniquely tranquil ambiance. With three treatment rooms, including one double room, it is the ideal place to relax and savour every second of the Bamford treatments, a British brand reputed for its organic plants and its quality essential oils.

Fruits and vegetables dressed with olive oil, finely ripened cheeses, Alpilles lamb, aromatic herbs... The authentic flavours of Provence take pride of place in the hotel's two restaurants. Elegant, bistro-style cuisine is served middays and evenings at La Table du Ventoux, either on the terrace or in its magnificent dining room. Whereas La Madeleine, where chef Anissa Boulesteix magnifies flavours without adding anything artificial, offers a refined gourmet cuisine in the evenings.

Guests looking to stay active while away can make use of the hotel's updated new gym, or for something more leisurely, wander through local markets and medieval villages, sampling the region's best vintages. Explore the local regions on a scenic hike, kayak, bike ride or vintage car adventure!
