Winter Travel: 7 Destinations To Put On Your Bucket List In 2021

DECEMBER 20, 2020

With the pandemic severely disrupting travel in 2020, we all hope 2021 will open up the opportunity again to explore paths untrodden or even just to revisit some of your most-loved destinations. With vaccine roll-out underway and as better testing rolls out at airports, we can start to brush the cobwebs off our suitcases and put your air miles on standby! While sunshine might be top of many people's post-lockdown holiday wishlist, we're finding ourselves dreaming of snowy adventures. Whether you want to book something last minute for early 2021's winter season from Jan-March, fancy holding out for a truly spectacular Christmas to compensate for 2020 or just simply want some winter travel inspo to lift your spirits, then here are 7 destinations to add to your bucket list.

Tree Hotel, Sweden

A treehouse perfect for grownups, this one-of-a-kind hotel set on stilts will live up to all your childhood dreams except on a more luxurious scale! Treehotel in Sweden consists of six floating eco dens featuring scandi-chic interiors and the most beautiful snowy outlook of the surrounding forest. If privacy and seclusion is top of your list, this is definitely a place to add to your iPhone notes! Don't worry though, there's plenty of activities to keep yourself entertained. From horse-drawn sleigh rides, snowshoe-walking to Segway tours and scenic zip line runs. The best part? After a day in the snow, you can head back to your cosy treehouse and order room service straight to the foot of your ladder.

Le Coucou, Meribel

If you're after wooden chalet vibes with beautiful interiors to boot, then Meribel's Le Coucou is the perfect option for ski and snowboard lovers. With direct access to some of the best slopes in Les Trois Vallées, this couldn't be a better spot to get your ski legs back. Unwind in their Tata Harper spa after a tiring day on the slopes and soak tired muscles in the heated swimming pool. All rooms come with outdoor terraces and their restaurant also offers superb views while you re-fuel, french style! Meribel is a fabulous all-rounder resort for families and daredevils alike and this is top of our list for ski season.
